Comments:

Simplex Energy Solutions, at the direction of Bryan Cave, LLP, and using data supplied by them, contacted companies that we have in our proprietary database that have interest in or are active in the Palo Duro basin and specifically Floyd and Motley County. Out of our database of 4700 companies, the database of companies that we approached with this project was 147. Attached, is a list of the operators in Floyd and Motley County (8 total operators), which is a relatively small sample. Another indicator of activity in the area is the attached list of permits to drill in the past 12 months (3 total). Subsequently, out of the companies that we presented the information to, 22 companies responded with a request for more information. However, none of the companies offered to bid on the leases. The company that showed at least some interest, Gunn Oil Company in Wichita Falls, declined to bid due to the short time remaining on the leases.

Several market factors led to the lack of interest in the project. The biggest contributing factor is that natural gas prices are still very low and this is primarily a natural gas play. Many of the companies that were holding leases in this area have decided not to renew those leases and moved on to projects that are based on oil discovery. We also believed at the beginning of this project that there was a shale development (Cline) that might move into this area. Some industry presentations at the time projected that this development might stretch as far north as the acreage that we were marketing for the seller. However, that development has not occurred and most of the leasing activity is much farther to the south. Even leases that were taken in Fisher and northern Scurry County, that were believed to be productive in the Cline Shale play, are expiring with no development.

In conclusion, our marketing effort resulted in no offers for the leasehold, based on market activity, at this time. Thank you for the opportunity to work on this project. I believe that we gave it our best effort.
